Mike Lynch, a meteorologist with WCCO Radio who also writes a weekly stargazing column in the "St. Paul Pioneer Press," will be presenting an outdoor program called 'Minnesota Starwatch.'

Participants can get to know constellations such as "The Big Bear," "Cassiopeia," "Pegasus," and some of the stories behind them. They will also use large reflecting telescopes, including a 20 inch telescope that is among the biggest in Minnesota. Stargazers may wish to bring along a lawn chair or blanket.

Programs are subject to change and cancellation
